

Market Cook

Apply your skills to an ever-changing menu, drawing inspiration from seasonal ingredients and showcasing the best that the Fraser Valley has to offer.

Feeding our guests is like feeding a family. A very large family. No matter today's task, you bring the same level of care and quality to the table consistently. Armed with excellent communication skills and a can-do attitude, you display a high level of integrity and respect for others.

Performance Expectations

As a market cook there is never a dull moment. Batch cooking soups, preparing meals to grab & go and cooking up the day's lunch features are only the beginning. Have a hand in creating seasonal features, putting together catering orders and continuously learning new recipes. And it's not all behind the scenes - being a fanatical daymaker means giving suggestions to our guests as to how to cook items they never have before; to help them cook a meal from scratch.

Development Opportunities

- Gain experience in the culinary world working side-by-side with our Red Seal Chef.
- Expand your culinary repertoire.
- Master the disciplines of time management and efficiency in the kitchen.
