

Assistant Produce Manager

Set the tone for your team each day, keeping things running smoothly behind the scenes. Connecting our guests with the best that local farmers have to offer.

A successful assistant produce manager hits the ground running, self-motivated to stay one step ahead of the team's activities. They orchestrate the day's tasks wisely and efficiently, but are never too busy to engage with the people around them. Their organizational skills and attention to detail are what equip them for a high standard of excellence. Leadership skills and communication are how they raise their team to that same standard of excellence.
